(re)-engaging mentees.

- revitalize the partnership after a period of absence
- make mid-course corrections

Mentoring partnerships can fall by the wayside for a variety of reasons.

Whether it’s a period of absence or schedule irregularity that follows a holiday break or a change in semester, here is an activity that will help you revive your partnership and get you back up to speed with your mentee.

You can use this activity as a starting point for re-connecting. Discuss each item and complete the form together.
Meetings:

- What are we working on right now?
- What is our progress to date in achieving our goals and objectives?

Relationship

- What is going particularly well in our mentoring relationship right now?
- What has been our greatest challenge thus far?
- What assistance could we use?

Learning

- What have we learned about ourselves? Each other?
- What are some of the conditions that have best promoted new learning?